Specification of Competency Standards for the Jewellery Industry Unit of Competency

Functional Area - Operational Management

or related work in the jewellery industry. Practitioners should have extensive understanding of the culture and structure of the organization/enterprise, so as to manage the established dail operational workflow of the organization. Level 4 Credit 6 Competency Performance Requirements 1. Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise • Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise • The value of the organization/enterprise • The vision and mission of the organization/enterprise • The theory and operational workflow of the organization/enterprise • The future development trend of the organization/enterprise • The future development trend of the organization/enterprise • The future development trend of the organization/enterprise, includin • Understand the services provided by and market share of competitor • Understand the services provided by and market share of competitor • Understand the organization/enterprise • Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making • Master the management of jewellery knowledge • Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master the management methods • Plan, co-ordinate and decide the		Manage the daily operation of the organization/enterprise
or related work in the jewellery industry. Practitioners should have extensive understanding of the culture and structure of the organization/enterprise, so as to manage the established dail operational workflow of the organization. Level 4 Credit 6 Competency Performance Requirements 1. Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise • Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise • The value of the organization/enterprise • The value of the organization/enterprise • The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise • The future development trend of the organization/enterprise • The theory and operational workflow of the source goods in different regions • Understand the production, trade, and types and values of the source goods in different regions • Understand the politics, economy and culture of the sales territories 2. Manage the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making • Master the management of jewellery knowledge • Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master management methods • Establish management methods • Establish management met	le 1	108855L4
Credit 6 Competency Performance Requirements 1. Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise • Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise, including: • The value of the organization/enterprise • The vision and mission of the organization/enterprise • The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise • The future development trend of the organization/enterprise • Monitor the daily operational workflow of the organization/enterprise, includin • Understand the production, trade, and types and values of the source goods in different regions • Understand the services provided by and market share of competitor • Understand the politics, economy and culture of the sales territories 2. Manage the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making • Master the management of jewellery knowledge • Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise • Master management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise	c ti	This unit of competency is applicable to management responsible for operational management or related work in the jewellery industry. Practitioners should have extensive understanding on the culture and structure of the organization/enterprise, so as to manage the established daily operational workflow of the organization.
Competency Performance Requirements 1. Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise • Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise, including: • The value of the organization/enterprise • The vision and mission of the organization/enterprise • The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise • The future development trend of the organization/enterprise • Monitor the daily operational workflow of the organization/enterprise, includin • Understand the production, trade, and types and values of the source goods in different regions • Understand the politics, economy and culture of the sales territories 2. Manage the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making • Master the management of jewellery knowledge • Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise • Master management methods • Establish management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise • Effectively employ information technology to enhance the efficiency and effectivenes	el 4	4
 1. Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise Understand the development history and process of the organization/enterprise, including: The value of the organization/enterprise The vision and mission of the organization/enterprise The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise The turure development trend of the organization/enterprise Monitor the daily operational workflow of the organization/enterprise, includin Understand the production, trade, and types and values of the source goods in different regions Understand the services provided by and market share of competitor Understand the politics, economy and culture of the sales territories 2. Manage the daily operation of the organization/enterprise Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making Master the management of jewellery knowledge Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise Master management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise Establish management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise Effectively employ information technology to enhance the efficiency and effectivenes 	dit 6	6 including: The value of the organization/enterprise The vision and mission of the organization/enterprise The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise The future development trend of the organization/enterprise Monitor the daily operational workflow of the organization/enterprise, includin Understand the production, trade, and types and values of the source goods in different regions Understand the services provided by and market share of competitor Understand the politics, economy and culture of the sales territories 2. Manage the daily operation of the organization/enterprise Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making Master the management of jewellery knowledge Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise Master management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise Establish management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise Effectively employ information technology to enhance the efficiency and effectivenes
 Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans organization, leadership, control and decision-making Master the management of jewellery knowledge Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise Master management methods Establish management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise Effectively employ information technology to enhance the efficiency and effectivenes 		 including: The value of the organization/enterprise The vision and mission of the organization/enterprise The theory and operational modes of the organization/enterprise The future development trend of the organization/enterprise Monitor the daily operational workflow of the organization/enterprise, including: Understand the production, trade, and types and values of the sources of goods in different regions Understand the services provided by and market share of competitors
Master risk management techniques		 Master the functions of operational management, such as operational strategy plans, organization, leadership, control and decision-making Master the management of jewellery knowledge Plan, co-ordinate and decide the daily operation of the organization/enterprise Master management methods Establish management culture to meet the development and reform of the organization/enterprise Effectively employ information technology to enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of the management of the organization/enterprise Master risk management techniques
 3. Professionalism Ensure that the daily operation of the organization/enterprise can meet the latest development 	3	Ensure that the daily operation of the organization/enterprise can meet the latest
Assessment Criteria The integrated outcome requirement of this unit of competency is: • Able to employ the relevant professional knowledge of operational management to effectively perform the daily operational management duty in the organization/enterp so as to enhance the competitiveness of the organization/enterprise.		 Able to employ the relevant professional knowledge of operational management to effectively perform the daily operational management duty in the organization/enterprise,
Remark		